Open multiple folders in multiple tabs
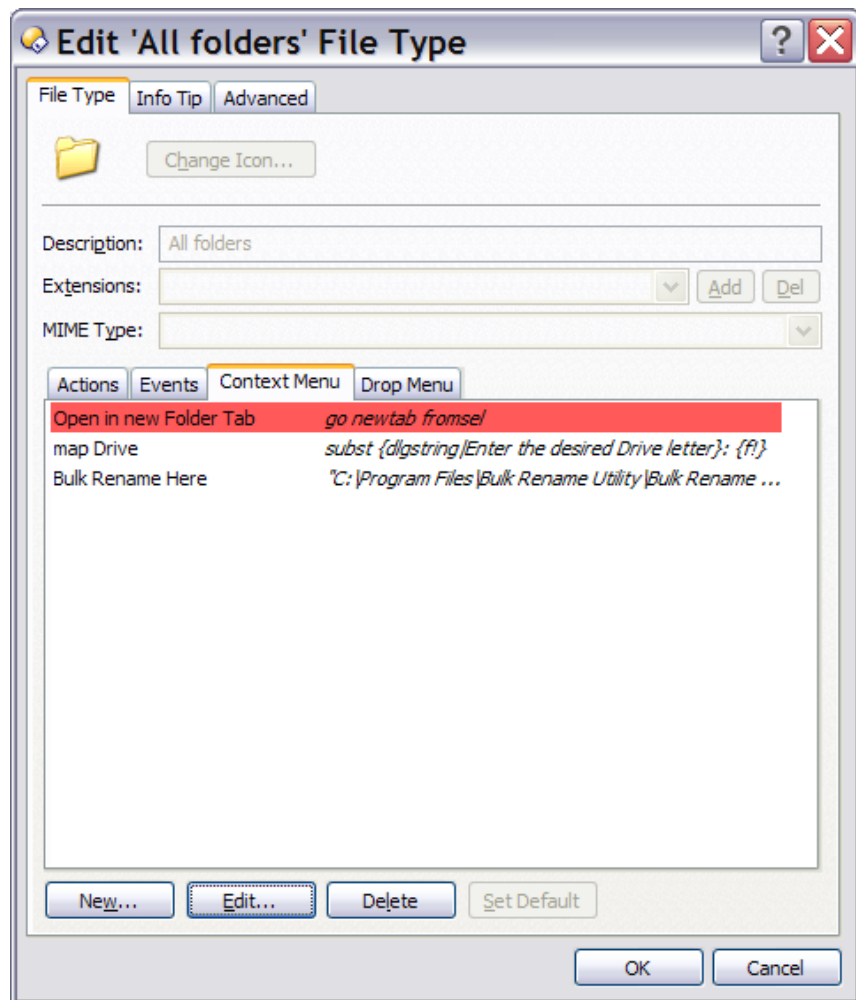

Help & Support

---

nate_dawg #1 January 31, 2017, 3:29am

Is it possible to select a series of folders and have them opened up in mass as a series of tabs... open each folder in it's own unique tab?

JohnZeman #2 January 31, 2017, 3:29am

Select your folders, right click, and choose "Open in new folder tab"

If that doesn't work then goto SETTINGS/FILE TYPES, and select ALL FOLDERS then EDIT. In the next dialog box choose the CONTEXT MENU tab, and add an entry like the one shown in red below.

kenalcock #3 January 31, 2017, 3:29am

It is, and I am working on a User Command for it. When I'm finished, I will post it in the Toolbars forum and update this thread. I still have to work out a couple of kinks.

kenalcock #4　January 31, 2017, 3:29am

LMAO, Talk about one of my more moments!

I'm sitting here coding a user command (a rather eloquent one even), and I already had John's suggestion in my Context Menu. Man what a day I'm having.... 😊

nate_dawg #5　January 31, 2017, 3:29am

Argh!!! it was there in the context menu but for some reason I didn't try selecting it.

Thanks for pointing it out.